

BIG INCREASE IN SHEEP SHIPMENTS

Figures Show 1,700,000 More Head From West Than Year Previous.

TO IMPROVE OMAHA YARDS

While Next Year's Shipments Are Not Expected to Equal This Year's, Enlargements Are to be Made.

The sheep receipts at seven prominent markets for the 11 months of 1910, ending Nov. 30, as compared to the same period of 1909, are as follows:

	1910.	1909.	Inc's.	Decr's.
Chicago	4,825,944	4,032,890	793,054
South Omaha	2,869,393	2,032,394	837,999
Kansas City	1,721,964	1,535,351	186,613
St. Louis	678,719	729,391		50,672
Denver	540,688	588,535		48,467
St. Joseph	523,200	582,223		59,023
Sioux City	133,421	95,248	38,173
Total	11,283,771	9,566,038	1,717,733	158,106
Net gain.

SHIPMENT FROM RANGES.

Practically all of the increase shown was in shipments from the range, as at the close of July the total marketing for the year 1910 was about the same as for the corresponding period of the previous year, South Omaha being the only market showing a substantial increase. The larger part of the gain in receipts of two million head of markets represents the forced marketing of sheep and lambs brought about by the severe drought conditions prevailing during the summer over the entire west, from the Gulf of Mexico to the Canadian border. The materially diminished supply of feed in sight for the winter season was an outlook most discouraging to the sheepman and insufficient feed during the summer season caused many thousands of sheep and lambs to go to market unit to meet killing demand, so that a largely increased percentage over previous years had to seek an outlet through the demand of the corn belt feeders, although the packers' purchases showed a notable increase over 1909 which was one of the best years in the disposition of the range offerings at the markets mentioned. It is estimated that from three to three and one-half million of sheep and lambs went to farmers and feeders.

THE LARGEST GAINS.

South Omaha showed the largest gain in sheep receipts of any of the markets amounting to nearly 850,000 head more than for the same period of 1909, which was a record year, or a total for that market of 3,000,000.

head. Of this number South Omaha sold for shipment to country feeders, 1,700,000 head, which is nearly half of the feeder shipments of the seven markets combined, and almost equal to the total shipments of any two of the markets mentioned. Notwithstanding the heavy receipts at South Omaha throughout the entire range season, which at times taxed to the utmost market facilities, which in former years have been considered ample, nearly 10 per cent of the receipts actually sold at South Omaha, showing that there was apparently an unlimited outlet there for the range stuff. This was due to the fact that the outlet there for feed kinds of sheep and lambs, has been developing very rapidly in recent years by reason of expenditures of small farmers in sheep feeding which have resulted profitably for them as a rule.

ADVANTAGE TO FARMERS.

The farmer has found that he can with a load or two of sheep clean up the roughage about his place, in his corn fields and stubbles, which would otherwise be waste. On the other hand, waste converted into mutton will give him a profit in most cases, aside from benefits derived through the increased fertilization of the soil. Thus it has come about that the farmer and small feeder, the man who can handle one or two cars with very little expense, has displaced the big feeder of a few years ago. It is a fact that had it not been for the demand this fall from the corn belt farmer exceeding largely that of previous years, the marketing of the range stuff would have resulted seriously, indeed, for the sheep men of the west.

YARDS TO BE IMPROVED.

While it is not likely that the marketing of sheep next year will anywhere near approach the volume of business that moved this year, the friends of the South Omaha market welcome the announcement of extensive improvement and additions which are now actually being made at South Omaha for accommodation of its rapidly growing sheep market. About $60,000 will be expended during the latter part of 1910 and the early months of 1911 in rearranging the big sheep barn there and providing such additional pen room and facilities as will enable the market to care for about 30,000 sheep more than heretofore. It is the intention to provide before next fall accommodations for about 50,000 sheep.

This announcement comes from General Manager Buckingham.

EDUCATIONAL RESPONSIBILITY

Subject of Address of Dr. E. E. Brown Before Teachers Today.

SOME IMMEDIATE NEEDS

Speaker Advocates Co-operation Between Public and School Boards, Better Buildings and Supervision.

Not only is it difficult for a lad to grow up these days and escape a school teacher, but the time is coming when the federal government will feel that it owes an educational duty towards every individual of the commonwealth, during every period of his lifetime, even until the grave. Following this theme and showing how throughout the country every effort is being made to keep not only the teaching force but the public at large conversant with every advance made in education, U. S. Commissioner E. E. Brown gave a most excellent address this morning before the teachers' convention at the assembly hall, which was filled with attentive listeners. Invocation was offered by the Rev. Mr. Paden after which J. T. Hand rendered a tenor solo, "Aria Paellacci," from "Leonavallo," so beautifully that he was twice recalled.

DR. BROWN'S ADDRESS.

Dr. Brown said in part: "I should like again to congratulate you on the obvious success of this meeting. Throughout the country, and teachers discussing the very same questions that confront you here. After all, over the seas, the same thing is going on. It is hard indeed now for a lad to grow up without confronting a school teacher. "I have chosen for a general topic this morning, 'The Relation of the Specialist to Education.' We teachers do not claim to be experts in the subject of education is so broad that we can only hope to be specialists. We are governed by experience. One reason why we do not have a more uniform teaching profession is the fact that our teachers, our specialists, all find the matrimonial state desirable. "The board of education acts as the great intermediary between the people and the teaching force. The great responsibility of the board of education is the getting of a competent superintendent and competent teachers. The teachers, the parents, the general public is not supposed to have an opinion; but it is necessary for the public at large, the men who are not experts, to choose their experts. How best can we get the best accord between the governing bodies of education?"

INFORMAL REFERENDUM.

"There are always objections that should be presented at all times. The board of education is the center. Should it not call at various times from the advice of two bodies, one representing teachers and the unprofessional public? Say, for instance, the question of throwing out manual training or adding sewing or cooking to the schools, confronted the board. Could there not be an informal referendum? The question would go down to the different clubs and organizations representing the public and then again it is presented to the teachers. The board then gets its answers from the combined sentiment of the community and makes its decision. In every step of education the community must keep abreast of the contemplated move. "The parents of Philadelphia, Rochester and Boston utilize the public schools when the children are not using them; the parents discuss the advancements contemplated. "Education now concerns every citizen down to the day of his death; in fact the government may feel that it has an educational responsibility toward every citizen in every stage of this life.

BIGGER SCOPE.

"The importance of exalting the superintendent of a school is not fully appreciated. What he does is a supervision. It has surprised me how much the time of a competent superintendent is taken up in doing the work of a low priced clerk. The board should hire a first class man to do the work of a third class man. "In this one matter of supervision the country schools have not made the progress they should. What is a man to do for instance, who must extend his work over thousands of miles of territory and who must direct some 200 teachers. An advance should be made by breaking up the territory of the county superintendent. Different towns may be grouped and a superintendent placed over each or the county may remain as it is and the county superintendent be given assistant supervisors. "The consolidation of country schools has had great advantages because it has given room for greater supervision.

BOARDS CRITICIZED.

"I wish the boards of education in the United States could meet together to discuss these questions; but in the past the different boards of education could avail themselves of the help of their state officers and their state institutions. I am sorry to say they are not doing this as they should. "The office of U. S. commissioner of education was created shortly after the Civil war. Its duty is to gather in and give out information. "All of the institutions in any state should work together towards the common end. The state which finds the best way of getting its schools working together, holding each other complete harmony, will astonish the nation with the progress it will make.

SOME PRESSING NEEDS.

"Let me mention a few of our immediate needs. Better school attendance is the first. We are satisfied with too poor a percentage. The next thing we need is good schoolhouses. True, we are spending in this country $70,000,000 a year in schoolhouses; but we could get better, more sanitary buildings for the same money if we would. We have issued a large bulletin on this subject. "In the third place we need the betterment of the teaching force. According to my predecessor, Dr. Harris, a teacher who graduates from the high school will grow for three years, one who graduates from the normal, for 10 years. Let us invest in good teachers.

"The fourth thing we need is better supervision of which I have already spoken. "Teaching is just as good a profession as you make it. The number of men here leads me to believe that we are going to have a number of excellent superintendents. Every inducement to keep those we most need in education should be utilized. "In response to an inquiry made by Judge Christensen, Dr. Brown said: "We have always had to fight the tendency to keep the ideal from the practical. A teacher of agriculture should of course if possible be a man of practical farming experience, though it is true, in many cases he is not. I believe that neither the ideal nor the practical exist best alone; our effort should be towards the bringing of them together. Mrs. Henry Kirkham sang "Life's Springtime" and the audience repaired to the tabernacle to hear the special organ recital.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL.

Miss Rebecca Nibley is guest of honor this afternoon at a luncheon given by Mrs. O. C. Beebe, the decorations being in red and green, and covers laid for 14 guests. The table has a Cluny lace cloth over red satin, and for a centerpiece a miniature Christmas tree, among whose branches stand a bride and groom in wedding attire, and with red ribbons extending from them to the places. A feature will be the writing of post cards to be sent the future bride during her coming wedding trip. The parlor is decorated in red carnations, and all details are out in the red and green. Christmas bells and holly being effectively used.

Miss Ruby Lamborne entertains at bridge this afternoon in honor of Miss Frances Cowan, five tables being played. The rooms are decorated in poinsettias, holly and bells, and assisting the hostess are Mrs. G. W. Lamborne, Mrs. W. H. Weyer, the Misses Gertrude Snow, Iris Sherman and Annie Adams.

Miss Dorothy Bailey entertains this afternoon a bridge tea at her home on Twelfth East street, the decorations being in the prevailing holiday colors, and the young hostess being assisted by her mother, Mrs. L. M. Bailey and others.

Miss Ruth Cain is hostess this afternoon at a card party given at her home on South Main street, in honor of Charlotte Bothwell and Miss Edith Gard who are home from their schools for the holidays. The decorations and other details are in the season's colors, and a number of friends assist in entertaining during the afternoon.

Officers and members of the Froebel society give a dancing party tonight at the Bishop's building.

A large affair of tonight will be the ball to be given by the Governor's club at Odson hall, the event being the first by the popular club this season.

One of the most delightful affairs yet given at the post was the masque ball last night. The big hall was draped with holly and evergreen, and the Christmas colors and emblems, mingling with the patriotic ones, a feature being a large Christmas tree, twinkling with lights and tinsel, while all about were wreaths and festoons of holly and evergreen. When the regimental band began the strains of the grand march, the floor filled with a picturesque train representing myriads of characters in history, fiction, folk lore, drama and song, the costumes being especially well chosen. At about 10 o'clock the dancers unmasked for supper, which was served from a long table at the end of the hall, having for a centerpiece a miniature Christmas tree, while red roses, and red lights added to the picturesque effect. The guests were received by Capt. and Mrs. John M. Palmer, and Capt. and Mrs. William M. Cavanaugh, and the grand march was led by Captain McNair and Miss Virginia Beattie. About 150 were present, including a number from the city.

At the symphony orchestra concert yesterday, the stalls were filled with representative people. Colonel and Mrs. Edwin F. Holmes occupying a stall, with Mrs. Jay T. Harris, Mrs. W. H. Cunningham, Mrs. W. C. Alexander and sister as their guests.

Miss Edna Cain entertained a stall party, having as her guests Mrs. A. J. Gorham, Mrs. A. S. Peters, Mrs. Ira H. Lewis, Mrs. C. B. Carter and Miss Edna Dwyer, Mrs. W. W. Armstrong, Mrs. Ellsworth Daggett and Mrs. J. T. Keith occupied another stall.

Last evening Bishop F. S. Spalding and Miss Spalding entertained at a pleasant affair in compliment to the faculty of Rowland hall and others, the decorations being in the holiday colors, and a feature being a Christmas tree.

Tonight Mrs. Sol Siegel gives a dancing party for her son Harold and a number of his young friends.

News has come from Colorado Springs of the marriage there of Jefferson Hayes Davis of Garfield, Utah, and Miss Doree DeWitt of the former place. Mr. Davis is engineer at the Utah Copper plant at Garfield, and will bring his bride there to reside. He is a grandson of Jefferson Davis of Civil war fame, and the bride is a daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Theodore DeWitt of Colorado Springs. Mr. and Mrs. Davis have gone for an eastern trip.

Otto Hauerbach, who has risen into enviable eminence in the musical world, through the success of a half dozen original clever operas, was guest of honor on Tuesday night at a delightful evening party given by Mr. and Mrs. James H. Poulton at their home, together with his brother, Carl Hauerbach, who is here from Chicago spending the holidays with relatives. The rooms were decorated with holly, bells, and other of the season's emblems, and an elaborate supper was served, while a feature of the evening was the music, several selections being given from "Madame Sherry." Mr. Hauerbach's music, which comes to Salt Lake next month. About 25 guests were present to enjoy the pleasant affair.

Lieut. and Mrs. F. M. Miller will give a watch party at the post on Saturday night.

Miss Marian White will be among those who entertain at watch parties on Saturday evening.

A quiet wedding was celebrated Saturday noon at the First Presbyterian church, when Elizabeth D. Symon was married to Arthur S. Smith. Rev. Paden performed the ceremony. A luncheon was afterwards served by Mrs. John McQueen, sister of the bride. Mrs. Smith is a well known and popular teacher in the Jordan district schools.

WARD ENTERTAINMENTS.

Emigration Ward—Forty young girls of Emigration ward gave their first presentation of the opera, "Bonny Bell," at the ward meetinghouse Thursday night, and considering the short training the children have had, their work reflected much credit on their instructor, Mrs. J. G. Kelson. Another performance will be given tonight.

Cannon Ward—In honor of Elder Lorin Peck, formerly assistant superintendent of the Sunday school, and recently called to take up the ministry in the California mission, a farewell party will be given this evening in Cannon ward meetinghouse, beginning at 8 o'clock. Local talent will present a pleasing musical and elocutionary program, after which there will be dancing.

Emigration Ward—In Emigration ward last night a pleasing opera by 40 children of the Religion classes was presented before a crowded house. The presentation was under the direction of Mrs. J. G. Kelson and was received warmly. The entertainment will be repeated this evening in the ward hall, Tenth East and Seventh South street, at 8:15.

Second Ward—In the Second ward amusement hall this evening there will be a book sale, at which the young people of the ward. Last night the dance was for the married people of the ward and a most enjoyable time was had. On Saturday afternoon the hall will be turned over to the children for a matinee dance. The place has been attractively decorated and a good orchestra is in attendance.

PARKS AND PLAYGROUNDS.

Annual Meeting of Association Held At Commercial Club.

The Parks and Playgrounds association held its annual meeting last night at the Commercial club, and nine members of the board of control were elected for three years. Those who were selected are Jacob Dolin, D. H. Christensen, Mrs. Joseph M. Cohen, B. A. Hinkleley, William H. Leary, James Murdoch, Mrs. C. H. Arthur, B. F. Redman and Robert W. Sloan. The new members will meet with in the next two weeks and select the officers of the association for the coming year.

The financial report showed that the past year, the first of existence for the association, the 75 members of the body had contributed $1,191 for the movement to establish public playgrounds. From other sources, the association received $27.60. For supervision and development, $82 was expended, for printing and advertising, $104.50; for apparatus in Liberty park, $195; for incidentals, $30.76. The cash now in the treasury amounts to $425.34. For maintaining and establishing public playgrounds, the association hopes to secure from its members and other public-spirited citizens, in 1911, $1,600.

PRaises Deseret Gymnasium.

Commissioner E. E. Brown Visits Institution and Says It Has No Equals.

E. E. Brown, United States commissioner of education, who is visiting in this city in connection with the annual convention of the Utah State Teachers' association, visited the Deseret gymnasium yesterday. Prof. Brown is an old friend of Prof. V. E. Day, physical director at the gymnasium, having been in Salt Lake with him as a teacher several years ago.

Prof. Brown was shown through the gymnasium and after his inspection he complimented the church authorities for the foresight in providing such a structure and he declared that in his inspections of gymnasiums, even in the larger universities and colleges, he had not seen its superior in point of adequacy, equipment and corps of instructors.

CHANGES IN PROCEDURE.

Land Office Receives Notice of Important Rules.

In filing contests to the title of public lands several changes of importance have been made with reference to the procedure. According to information received at the local United States land office yesterday, the new rules will become effective on Feb. 1. The principal change relates to the filing of contests over title to public land. The new rule is as follows: "Rule 3—Contests may be initiated by any person seeking to acquire title to, or claiming an interest in, the land involved, against a party to any entry, filing or other claim under laws of Congress relating to the public lands, because of priority of claim, or for any sufficient cause affecting the legality or validity of the claim, not shown by the records of the land department. "Any protest or application to contest filed by any person shall be forthwith referred to the chief of field division, who will promptly investigate the same and recommend appropriate action."
